the dark creating the light

The moon

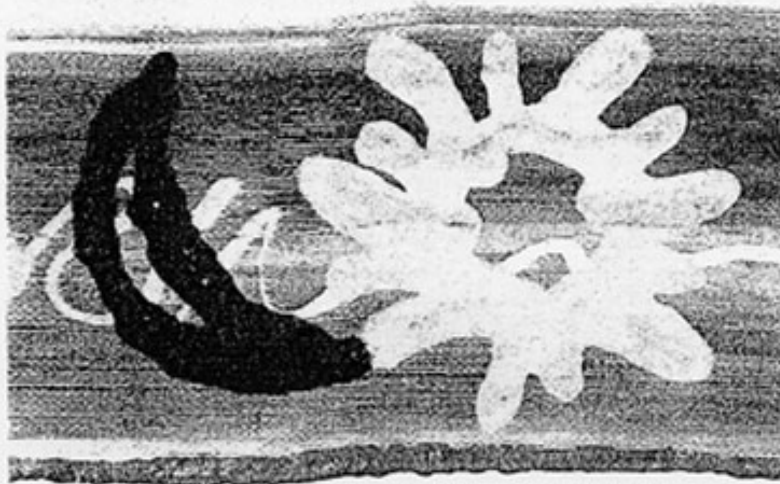

In these old days

I was alone - sitting in the dark

The moon came up, music was there

And my heart started to cry:

It began to open up

The sun

Deciding to leave the dark and the grey

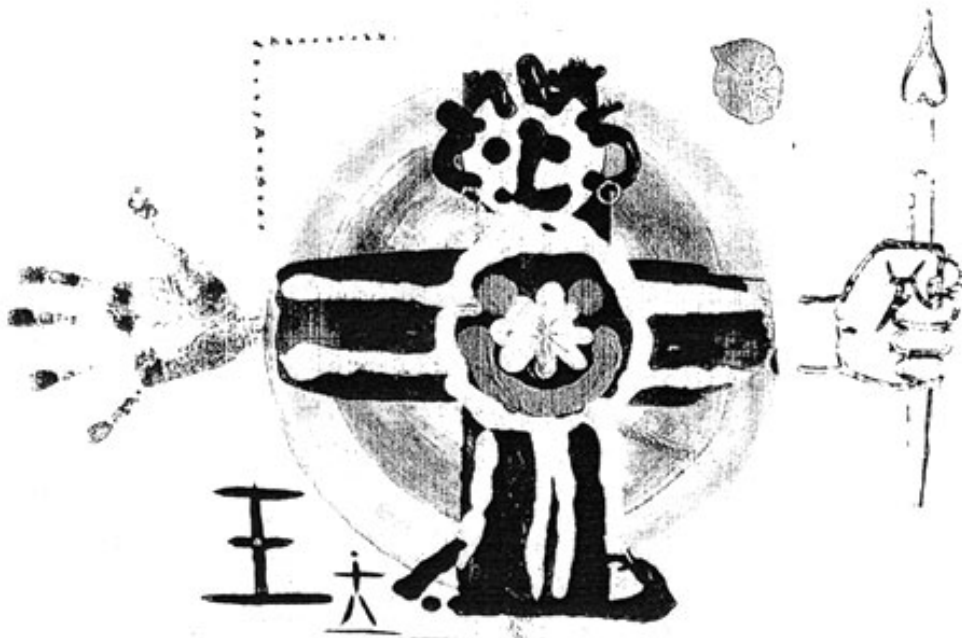

I moved into the green

The sun came up, music was there

And my heart started to dance

It began to create

Flying high into the sky

And the hot, compassionate love of the sun

Was melting me
